Conferees Near Agreement on Highway Plan

Number of Miles Still Undecided; Final Action Wednesday

WASHINGTON (P) - House-Senate conferees reached tentative agreement in a marathon session Friday night on most features of the largest road-building program in history.

The one big item still at issue was the number of miles to be included in the 271/2-billion-dollar interstate network of superhighways. A bill passed by the House calls for 40,000 miles. A Senate bill would increase the mileage to

Details of the tentative compromise were withheld pending final agreement which will probably be reached next Wednesday when the conferees meet again to complete action on the program.

Other conferees will take up minor differences in the tax portion of the legislation before it goes back to the two branches of Congress for final action.

The House passed a bill calling The Senate approved a $37,200,-

A chief problem facing the House-Senate conference committee is how to distribute among the states a provision in both bills for 25 billion dollars for a system of super - highways linking most state capitals and major cities.

Under the House bill, federal funds would be distributed on the basis of each state's estimate of would allocate the money on the basis of a state's population, size and rural road mileage.

THE MULCH THE BERRIER—Plastic film used as a strawberry mulch on the Ishibashi Brothers ranch in Torrence, Calif., has reduced fruit losses due to mold rot by 75 to 85 per cent. The "magic carpet" of plastic film, made from Bakelite polyethylene, was used on the Ishibashis' 12-acre, 300,000-plant strawberry field. If one berry per plant is saved over the three-year period the film is left down, it more than pays the cost. One end of the 34-inch wide film is buried at the head of the row and the roll is attached to an improvised jig on the back of a medium tractor, top left. Workers follow height the tractor to take the film in place, and then with rever blades out small slite in the low behind the tractor to tuck the film in place, and then, with razor blades, cut small slits in the film over the plants, top right. Learn Grimm Will Be Replaced By Haney as Braves' Manager

NEW YORK III — Milwaukee reported exclusively that Grimm Braves' officials have formally would be released as manager of the Braves by June 15 if the club failed to show substantial improve-Fred Haney propably will be named to show substantial improvement. Tabbed to run one-two with the Brooklyn Dodgers in pre-season the season, it was learned to-

Plans to dismiss the 57-year old league only three games over the Grimm became apparent at Ebbets Field Friday night when own-er Lou Perini, asked point-blank about the Milwaukee manager's future, failed to give him a vote of confidence. Perini, who flew into New York for the express purpose of discussing Grimm's status with executive Vice President Joseph F. Cairnes and General Manager John Quinn, was asked by newsmen whether he was prepared to say that Grimm would continue managing the club. "I am prepared to say nothing," Perini said, dodging all further questions on the subject.

Haney, who managed the Pitts-burgh Pirates last season, will be more or less a pro-tem manager and according to a reliable source, the Braves will make every effort to sign ex-Giant pilot Leo Durocher as manager for 1957.

Grimm, asked about the meeting between Perini Cairnes and Quinn first said he knew "nothing" about plans to replace him. Then he paused, shrugged his shoulders and said, "That's baseball."

It was further learned that two avenues may be open to Grimm when he is relieved as manager of the Braves. He may be offered a position in the Milwaukee front office or Wid Mathews' job as personnel-director of the Chicago Cubs.
